High-speed chase leaves two dead

BY TRACI BONNEY

A high-speed car chase involving six teenagers and five Coast police departments left two of the teens dead and four injured, said Detective Tom Burleson of the Bay St. Louis Police Department.

Burleson said the chase started at 1:22 a.m. Friday, when Bay St. Louis police officer Richard Hannah stopped a car on Hwy. 90 on the Bay St. Louis bridge to run a routine tag check.

Hannah approached the vehicle and asked for a driver's license. Then, according to the police report, the driver, a teenage male, smiled at the officer and sped away.

Burleson said Hannah called the police station and reported that he was in pursuit of the vehicle, a 1990 Oldsmobile Cutlass station wagon with a Louisiana license plate.

The driver ran several roadblocks between Pass Christian and Biloxi, Burleson said, before he lost control of the car and crashed in Biloxi on Hwy. 90 west of St. Francis Street.

According to a report, the trip from Bay St. Louis to Biloxi took 17 minutes, with the station wagon going at speeds as high as 110 mph during the chase.

One of the five passengers was found dead on the scene, and a second died several hours later at Biloxi Regional Hospital.

Chief Biloxi Investigator Kevin Ladner identified the dead as Kedrick Shy, 12, and Dwayne Dede, 13.

The other three passengers are in hospitals in Biloxi, Burleson said. The driver is being detained in Biloxi on charges of weaving in the roadway and failure to yield to blue lights and sirens.

The Pass Christian, Long Beach, Gulfport and Biloxi police departments assisted in the chase, Burleson said.

He said the New Orleans Police Department was notified of the incident after the crash. That department then notified the owner of the vehicle, who is reported to have been unaware that his car had been stolen.

According to Ladner, those of the youths who were able to talk to police said all six agreed to steal the car. They apparently were taking it to Florida.

Old Spanish Trail repairs to possibly be delayed

BY DENA BISNETTE

Resurfacing work on Old Spanish Trail in Waveland, expected to begin as early as July 1, is likely to be delayed.

The resurfacing will not be a city project, but will instead fall under the jurisdiction of the Hancock County Board of Supervisors.

Under Mississippi law, some of the property tax money a county receives is designated for use in that county's municipalities, and County Engineer Larry Seal said those funds will provide the money for the work on Old Spanish Trail.

However, he said details he had not anticipated, including a planned sewerage project, will probably delay the project from the July 1 starting date he had expected.

The counties are required by law to return half the money to the cities to use for road projects chosen by the city administration. The other 50 percent can be kept by the county for county projects or used for projects in the cities.

In Hancock County, the 50 percent returned goes directly through the tax department to Bay St. Louis and Waveland. The rest goes into an escrow account, which according to County Comptroller Ken Walker generates about $35,000 per year.

Walker said last year's money for Waveland was not used, and with taxes paid so far this year, the account has about $50,000 in it now and should have about $70,000 by the end of the year if the money is not used.

Seal expects to have to report to the supervisors regarding the project before any final arrangements with the city can be made. (Page 2A)

Troopers target litter offenders

Mississippi Highway Patrol (MHP) troopers' patrolling efforts will especially target litter violators during the State Highway Department-sponsored Trash Bash '90 March 26-31.

Trash Bash is an annual event for all Adopt-A-Highway groups to join forces and make a clean sweep of litter from their adopted sections of roadway.

This year's Trash Bash coincides with the Great American Trash Off, a national event encouraging all states' AAH groups to pick up litter on a designated day during the last week in March.

MHP officers will continue enforcing state litter laws, but especially protecting the AAH groups' pick-up effort and provide any needed assistance to them.

"Persons convicted of violating the litter laws could be fined up to $50 by the courts," Lt. Col. Billie T. Hughes, assistant Highway patrol chief, said.

MHP along with local law enforcement agencies are responsible for enforcing state litter laws.

Texas Flat Road bill remains in committee

BY DENA BISNETTE

A bill which will allow the rebuilding of Texas Flat Road has until the end of the legislative day Monday to get out of a conference committee.

House Bill 3042, introduced by Representative J.P. Compretta, provides the remaining funding needed for the Texas Flat Road project.

Monday is the deadline for revenue bills. Compretta's office confirmed late Friday afternoon that the bill was still in the committee.

The 13.4 mile road runs from Highway 603 through the John C. Stennis Space Center buffer zone to Highway 607 near one of the space center's main gates.

Last year, the Economic Development Highway Act provided $3 million for Texas Flat Road, which is expected to cost about $4.4 million if paved to state highway specifications. At that time, the Hancock County Board of Supervisors anticipated that the road would have to support at least 80,000 pounds because 15 percent of the traffic is expected to be heavy trucks.

The remaining $1.4 million that will come from the bill, if approved, was originally expected to come from an Economic Development Block

Wreck injures two residents

BY DENA BISNETTE

The Mississippi Highway Patrol is still investigating a Friday afternoon accident which occurred at Highway 603 and Central Avenue and injured two Bay St. Louis men.

State Trooper Sergeant Herschel Ladner, who is in charge of the investigation, stated that Herman L. Sones of Bay St. Louis, driver of a gray Celica involved in the accident, was taken to Hancock Medical Center by Mobile Medic Ambulance Service. Sones was treated and released with minor injuries, Ladner said.

The driver of a shop-type pickup with which the Celica collided, William R. Carrigee of Bay St. Louis, suffered several cuts to the head but the injuries were minor, Ladner said.

The trooper said Carrigee was travelling south on 603 and slowed down to make a left turn onto Central. The Celica, which was also travelling south and was behind the truck, then hit the truck in the rear, Ladner said.

Ladner said the cause of the accident is being listed as Sones' following too closely behind the pickup truck.

Assisting Ladner with traffic control at the scene were personnel from Waveland Police Department and Hancock County Sheriff's Department.

The traffic on Highway 603 had to be routed into a single lane for about 45 minutes while emergency personnel worked at the accident scene.

be made and to have to meet with Waveland's engineering consultant, Ray Eaton, to discuss the sewerage project.

Seal, Board of Supervisors President Ronald Cuevas, Beat One Supervisor Robert Peterson and County Maintenance Superintendent Sam Cuevas met with the Waveland Board of Aldermen Wednesday to talk about the paving.

The supervisors have decided that Waveland's money should be used in a resurfacing project on Old Spanish Trail which will be similar to one completed last year in Bay St. Louis.

Seal discussed the possibility of widening the road to 21 feet instead of its present 18-foot width, which he considers more appropriate for the road's traffic count.

He said later that a count taken by Southern Mississippi Planning and Development District in the summer of 1988 indicated 1,800 to 2,440 vehicles per day on various parts of the road, indicating Old Spanish Trail's importance as an artery between US-90 and Main Street in Bay St. Louis.

However, the aldermen decided to continue with the 18-foot width to avoid moving some utilities and creating additional cost.

Alderman Stella Frilot said she is concerned about having to cut across Old Spanish Trail if the road is resurfaced before the sewerage project in that area is started.

City Attorney Lucien Gex said the beginning of the Farmer's Home Administration-financed sewerage project, however, could be as much as a year away.

Mayor John Longo Jr. suggested resurfacing Old Spanish Trail only from the end of the project the county completed for Bay St. Louis last year down to Nicholson Avenue, but Seal said the city might be able to go ahead and lay in casings for the sewerage pipe under the road to avoid cutting through the new surface later.

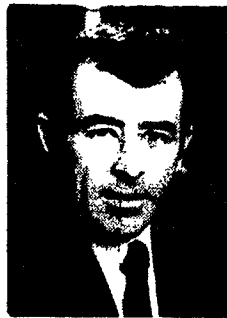

Seal said just to overlay what already exists would probably take all of the $70,000 available once preliminary levelling and other work is done if the entire 1.8 mile stretch of road from the Bay St. Louis city limits to US-90 in Waveland is resurfaced.

Choose tax preparer with care

The Secretary of State's Office is warning Mississippians to be cautious of a tax "shelter" investment that sounds too good to be true.

"Falling prey to a shady tax preparer can be an expensive mistake," said Susan A. Shands, assistant secretary of state for the Securities Division.

Last fall, the Securities Division completed the investigation of a Vicksburg tax preparer—Kay Humphrey—who in November 1989 was convicted of promoting and selling bogus tax write-offs in Mississippi and Louisiana.

In that case, the Humphrey customers lost their investments she recommended, lost the tax write-offs and ended up paying high interest charges and penalties to the Internal Revenue Service.

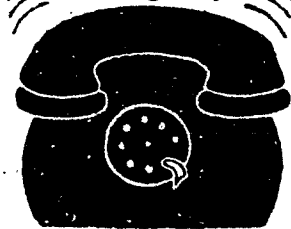

"Research a tax preparer just as you would a banker, a lawyer, a doctor or any other kind of service provider," said Shands.

Ask for referrals from friends and colleagues, and ask the preparer to prove that he or she has the expertise you need at a cost you can afford.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

The weather turned a little cooler this past week, but wasn't it so beautiful.

The pilgrimage day for Bay-Waveland Garden Club was well attended and the beautiful weather had a lot to do with the turnout.

I drive down the beach early in the morning and see the slick water and wish I had my fishing pole along.

I am ready to try the fish and hopefully they will start biting real soon.

It appears the cold weather did not curb the growth of weeds in the area. I have seen quiet a few mowers in action in recent weeks.

The warm days following the wet ones have really helped the growth of grass and weeds.

I am hoping vegetable gardens will also do very good this year.

I have noticed how beautiful the oak trees are now, as many lost all of their leaves during the hard freeze and now have come back with all fresh crisp green new ones.

The azalea blooming is about over with now, as I only see a few still in flower.

Spring is a beautiful time of year, as nature comes to life after the short dreary days of winter.

As most of you know, I am a summer person.

Monday will be Pass Christian's day on the Mississippi Gulf Coast Council of Garden Clubs.

Members of the Pass Christian Garden Club have been working very hard in recent weeks in preparation for the big day.

There are 10 stops on the tour in the Pass beginning with the Hancock Bank Civic Center, 257 East Senic Drive, with coffee and doughnuts being served from 10 to 11:30 a.m. Brochures and maps will be available.

There are several houses and points of interest on the tour and we hope they, too, will have good participation in the annual event.

Much time, money and effort have been placed by Hancock Countians on the implementation of the 911 program.

The emergency 911 number is used by medical, police and fire personnel for so many emergencies, yet there are some logistics which have to be in place for the system to work.

A massive numbering of residences, even changing the names of some streets had to be completed in order for the modern program to be able to work.

Those of us who live in a particular area of town do not always have to read a street's name to know where it is, but those responding to emergencies may not know these areas and depend upon street names.

I have heard about a recent case in which an extra 45 minutes was taken for an emergency vehicle to find a residence because some idiot changed the wording on a street sign.

This could have easily caused someone to lose a life, or have a residence or even several lost to a fire because of some wise guy.

The 911 system calls for a different name for every street in a specific area.

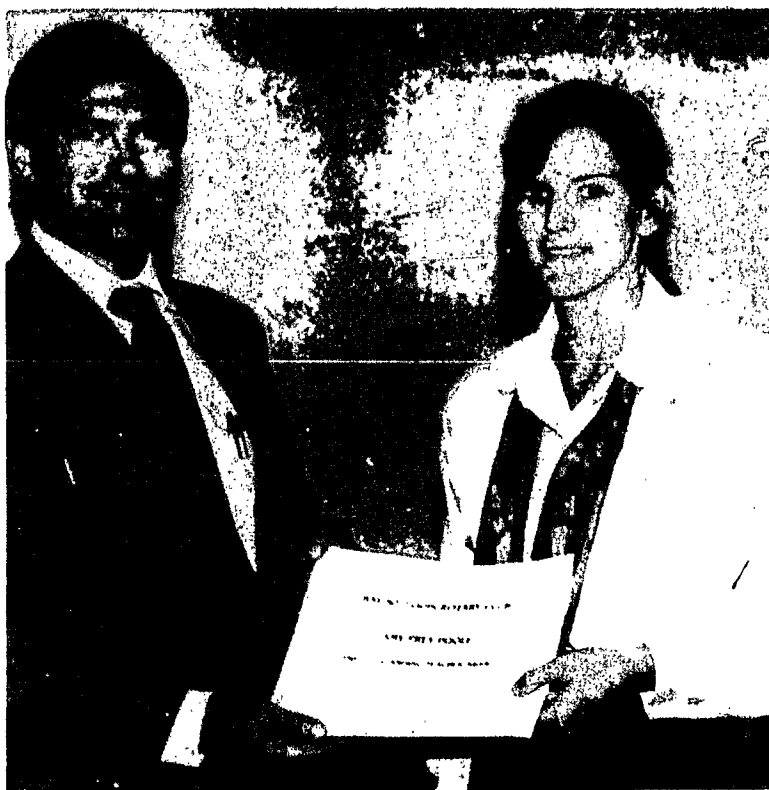

In this case I have been told there was a Third Street in this particular area, and someone apparently did not like the spelling, so they repainted the street sign to 3rd Street.

There was already a 3rd Street in the area so this caused some confusion.

The changing of names on street signs is not the only problem. There still are those who remove street signs and this is very bad and also causes unnecessary accidents.

Folks, it costs us taxpayers, you and me, many dollars each year for sign replacement in Hancock County.

I would suggest that if you see anyone tampering, or even thinking about tampering with a street sign, call the law immediately.

Mississippi's pride is at an all-time high

Our employment picture is the best that it has been in over a decade. Our children are on the threshold of a new era in education. And we are making significant strides to make Mississippi a drug-free zone in the region.

But our pride is not only showing here at home, the message that Mississippi is on the move is beginning to be heard around the nation.

And what has the rest of the country discovered about Mississippi?

Just lately, The New York Times printed a front-page article on our plan to put computers in every kindergarten and first grade class in the state.

They wrote that Mississippi is on the cutting edge in giving our children a strong start when they enter school. "Several studies," according to the author, "found that kindergarten and first grade students who used the computers progressed faster than the national norm on standardized reading tests."

By equipping classrooms with these high-tech computers, we are ensuring that future generations of Mississippians will be literate by the time they reach the second grade. And those same children will have the educational skills they need to proceed into Mississippi's unbridled future.

Another article, this time in The Washington Post, said that Mississippi was ahead of the pack when it came to adult literacy. The author, Mary McGrory, wrote that we were taking major steps in solving a problem that affects more than 400,000 Mississippians.

In the globally distributed newspaper U.S.A. Today, a front page article emphasized that Mississippi is poised for the 21st century. The article also stressed the positive, substantive changes that we have experienced over the past decade.

This national publicity is good for the state, but perhaps one of the most important things that has come from Mississippi recently is our leadership role when it comes to education reform.

We have done our homework when it comes to our schools. The rest of the country knows that we are committed to this front burner issue. They are fully aware of our determination to make our public school system the best in the world.

The significant point to remember is that Mississippi is receiving high marks when it comes to progress because we are not just talking about our problems, we are doing something about it.

Mississippi has a reason to hold its head high.

The nation knows that we're on the move, and by telling the Mississippi message, we're not just showing our pride, we're showing our promise and our progress, and that's good news anyway you read it.

FROM THE SENATE

The dilemma of commemorative bills

The major legislation reported from the Congress right now centers around the budget, taxes, crime and drugs, education, and the environment.

What is little reported is an avalanche of commemorative legislation Congress enacts every year to designate days, weeks, months, or years in honor of topics such as dairy goats, country music and library card sign-ups.

Many commemoratives are important and are intended to focus attention on serious problems as in the case of "National Alzheimer's Disease Month" or "Just Say No to Drugs Week."

Some highlight farm commodities or celebrate a specific region of the country. They all are important to the constituents who ask their senator or congressman to support them.

But they're also expensive. Claudine Schneider, who represents Rhode Island in the House of Representatives, estimates their costs each year at almost $600,000 for printing, staff work, and letters and phone calls necessary to seek legislators' cosponsorship of the measures.

Commemoratives began innocuously with the establishment of Mother's Day in 1914. In the last decade, they, and the workload that comes with them, have exploded. In the 100th Congress, the 287 commemorative resolutions signed into law were 38 percent of the

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Moore catching flak from veterans

Atty. Gen. Mike Moore, in the view of veterans organizations, has committed political suicide with his crusade to prove in court that bingo is a lottery, and therefore illegal under the present state constitutional prohibition against lotteries.

But if Moore winds up winning his oblique legal maneuver to get a lottery amendment on the November ballot, and the people vote to remove the constitutional ban on lotteries, he may turn out to be a hero to a lot of Mississippians who want to play bingo.

In the meantime, the 37-year-old Moore is catching some heavy political flak from veterans and fraternal organizations for his statewide clampdown on bingo games, a move that has cut off their prime source of income for charitable and civic programs.

"I just want to live long enough to vote against him (Moore)," an angry American Legionnaire told this column last week.

Moore filed suit in Hinds County Chancery Court Jan. 10 contending bingo is an illegal lottery banned by Section 98 of the state constitution, notwithstanding a 1987 state law which legalized bingo games for charitable purposes.

At first, Moore had aimed his suit at big bingo operations which had sprung up in several parts of the state which he said were skirting the law by giving small amounts to charities and pocketing big money. But he later served notice that all bingo, including church and veterans organizations, had to shut down or be brought under the suit.

Chancellor W. O. Dillard, in granting a temporary statewide restraining order against bingo games, so far has upheld Moore's contention that bingo is a lottery. However, the issue won't be settled until it reaches the state Supreme Court. In some 16 states, courts have held that bingo is a form of lottery.

The timing of his move against bingo while the Senate was about to tackle Gov. Ray Mabus' lottery bill brought Moore criticism that he was trying to help Mabus pass the measure to help finance his education program. Moore denied that, saying that it was only coincidental. A week later, the Senate rejected the lottery bill.

Meantime, Moore is backing a petition movement by two state legislators to put a lottery proposition on the November ballot by reinstating the power of initiative and referendum which was suspended in 1922 by a questionable state Supreme Court ruling.

Petitions with nearly 15,000 signatures proposing repeal of the constitutional lottery ban were expected to be presented to Secretary of State Dick Molpus this week to trigger a court test in restoring the initiative and referendum power Mississippians had from 1916 to 1922.

Assuming that Molpus will have to reject the petitions in view of the 1922 Supreme Court ruling, Moore is prepared to immediately go to Hinds County Circuit Court and then the Supreme Court to reverse the 1922 court decision and put the lottery amendment on the November ballot.

But members of the American Legion, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, the Disabled American Veterans and the Amvets seem unforgiving in their hostility toward Moore for tying bingo to the lottery issue even if he does succeed in the end to remove the ban on lottery.

"I think when his time for reelection comes up he will be voted out, whoever runs against him," said E. P. Vincent, VFW post commander at Biloxi. "That's the thinking of the veterans in this area, and this is the part of the state Moore comes from."

American Legion state adjutant James Herring, who said bingo receipts last year accounted for $538,000 that went for Legion scholarships and civic program, charged that Moore and Mabus "are trying to put the lottery on the backs of the veterans. We're going to remember that at election time."

State VFW commander Don Pennington of Columbus doubts that Moore can redeem himself with veterans in any case. "I think Mike committed political suicide," Pennington said.

Moore admits that his move against bingo "was one of the toughest calls I have ever made, but the people knew when they elected me, I'd make the tough calls. I'll just have to take the brunt of it."

So far, Moore says, the letters he has received at his office have been running 3 to 1 in favor of what he has done.

IN CONGRESS

By Rep. Gene Taylor

Taxpayers' money should be spent at home

Last week, the administration requested that the Congress shift $300 million from the current defense budget to aid the newly elected government in Nicaragua.

The aid request would include money for sending refugees home, agricultural assistance, fuel, medical aid and public works programs.

The request is to be added to the $500 million in aid that the administration already proposes be sent to Panama. That money also is to be financed from this year's defense budget.

Don't get me wrong, I congratulate the newly elected president of Nicaragua, Violeta Chamorro, and her country for scoring a victory for democracy. And I applaud President Bush for his military intervention in Panama.

It just seems that in helping the foreign countries take hold of democracy, the president, the Defense Department and the Congress are forgetting about domestic tranquility.

Here they are slashing the defense budget and putting Mississippians—out of work so that it can turn around and spend that same money on foreign aid.

First and foremost, the government's responsibility should be to this country. It should not be offering foreign aid, when it is cutting U.S. veterans' benefits. It should not be offering financial aid when U.S. communities—especially those like Picayune near the Mississippi Army Ammunition Plant—are suffering a sudden and severe economic impact because of the plant's anticipated closure.

The government fostered DoD dependence in American communities. Now it owes it to Americans to spend the money and the time conducting a proper economic transition of those communities to the private sector.

You can count on my opposition to the president's foreign aid package. Thousands of livelihoods depend on the U.S. making the most of what is spent. And I believe taxpayers' money should be spent on programs that support Americans not foreign countries.

'People Chow' could become the ultimate in fast food

The other day I got into a discussion with somebody regarding the advantages of dry pet food over canned pet food—and about whether there ought to be an equivalent for humans.

I have two dogs and a cat and I use the dry chow because it's easier to handle. A pet owner can leave a bowl of it sitting in the animal's designated eating place and let the animal eat when it gets hungry.

There's no need to keep partial cans of food in the fridge and there's a lot less smell if the critter leaves some of the chow in the bowl. (Most humans can barely smell dry pet food anyway, unless they're very, very close to it or have just opened a bag of it.) Dry food is also a lot less messy to clean up if a spill occurs.

All of this leads me to wonder why nobody has invented dry "People Chow."

I'm talking about the ultimate in fast food. All you need is a drink to wash it down. No need to take a lunch hour at work, either; you can just keep your bowl on your desk and munch as though you're eating popcorn.

Have you ever read the ingredients list on a bag of pet food? It doesn't sound real appetizing but then neither do all the ingredients written on the side of a can of ravioli or potted meat.

What I have taken to reading more often is the list of nutritional values. I've read some good articles on how to interpret these things; I think one was published through the Mississippi Cooperative Extension Service and the other came from the American Diabetes Association.

What I find so funny is the difference in the way the labelling for people foods are written in comparison to the labelling on animal foods.

Animal food gives recommended amounts for individual servings based on the weight and age of the animal. If the pet in question is a dog or something else which comes in a wide range of sizes, the label also provides a size classification.

People foods say that a serving is four ounces and that the container in which it is sold contains 7.4 servings.

There are no clues regarding whether this serving is okay for a toddler who has recently made the transition to "real" food from baby food or for a six-foot-plus, 200-pound adult male who qualifies for the geriatric ward when he's ill—and some people aren't smart enough to

Now, I'm not that great at interpreting labels, but I can read percentages and animal foods seem to be more nutritionally complete than most people foods. That's logical, because people eat all kinds of things, but many animals are never fed anything except one brand of pet chow.

Just think, though, if a real meal were a luxury in which people indulged when they had the time, and the rest of the time we all ate people chow. We could still eat three or four times a day, but we would know exactly how much to eat each day for a complete diet.

Speaking of "diet," we wouldn't need to do that. "People Chow" could introduce sugar-free, low-sodium and reduced calorie versions and we could alternate with the original product when we have special nutritional needs (which for many people simply means fitting what's ordinarily a size nine frame into a size seven swimsuit).

Sure, it would be boring, but so many kids are being raised on a burger and fries every night they would get used to it right away.

It would also eliminate the need for grocery stores to stock so much stuff. They could become gourmet shops. And, restaurants would be better able to capitalize on special occasions when real food would be warranted.

Manufacturers would have a smaller product line to provide, although I'm sure introduction of People Chow wouldn't put anyone out of business; I counted about 35 brands of dog and cat food last time I went to a store.

Now, can we market People Chow through a drive-in window or a vending machine? It would be the ultimate in fast food.

Jail installs new phone lines

The Hancock County Justice Facility now has two direct telephone lines, according to warden Capt. Gerald Nicaise.

Telephone calls to the jail were previously routed through the Sheriff's Department and the lines were installed to alleviate some of the dispatchers' workload.

The two telephone numbers are 467-4718 and 467-4850.

This Is A Newspaper Ad About Newspaper Ads.

It's an advertisement for advertisements.

This newspaper ad will tell you how effective newspaper ads can be for your business.

Because every week, over 76% of Mississippi's adults go one-on-one with a newspaper.

Just exactly like you're doing right now.

At this very moment, you're reading and enjoying while you get information and entertainment. Your concentration and attention are focused on this ad.

And this ad alone.

That concentration, very simply, is the power of newspaper.

Radio and television wish they could command that kind of attention from their listeners. But, too many times, radio and television commercials become little more than background noise.

When people turn to their paper, they turn there with interest. Which means that's where your advertising message needs to be.

With all the choices available, it's difficult deciding how best to advertise your business.

But everything becomes a little simpler when you remember one rule.

When the Economic Development Highway Act passed last year, boards of supervisors in Hancock County had been trying for more than 10 years to get funding to pave the road through a Department of Defense program, based on its importance as a route to the soon-to-be mothballed Missis-

Legislators in both the House and Senate are concerned with the time they have to spend rounding up sponsors to these bills. A lawmaker must have 218 supporters in the House or 50 in the Senate in order to bring his bill to the floor.

On the other hand, many more lawmakers are frustrated over the constant pressure from their colleagues to cosponsor "National Save Your Back Week" or "National Barbershop Quartet Month."

I love barbershop quartets, and I know that some week, my back could go out. But I'd rather focus on how to improve the quality of education for those barbershop singers and how to make health care affordable for those with good and bad backs.

It has been proposed to turn over the task of creating the designations requested in commemorative legislation to an 11-member commission which would make recommendations to the President.

The panel would be similar to the Citizens, Stamp Advisory Committee, set up in 1957 to make recommendations to the Postmaster General on subjects and designs for postage stamps.

Mrs. Schneider contends the commission would save Congress time and money—the time legislators must spend rounding up sponsors and the money spent on staff and printing.

Opponents of the commission concept dislike the idea of relinquishing legislative decisions and fear constituents would feel slighted if Congress did not handle these bills.

The outlook for passage of this legislation this year is not nearly as certain as the passage of some of the commemorative designations it seeks to limit.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77

The regular monthly meeting of Bourgeois-Stieffel-Ray American Legion Auxiliary Unit 77 was March 6.

Auxiliary President Shirley Cox opened the meeting. The colors were advanced, and Chaplain Mary Caillier gave the opening prayer.

Members recited the Pledge of Allegiance and the Preamble. Guest speaker, Post 77 Commander Lawrence Freeman, was introduced.

Commander Freeman spoke about the closing of the weekly bingo and what the loss of this income would mean to Post 77.

He also thanked the auxiliary for their support given to the post over the years.

After a standing round of applause, Freeman was escorted from the hall by the sergeant-at-arms.

Various committee members gave their reports.

Volunteers were accepted to help with the annual St. Patrick's Day corned beef and cabbage dinner to be held in the Legion Hall from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. on St. Patrick's Day, March 17.

The meeting ended with the returning of the colors and the closing prayers. Refreshments were served.

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139

The regular monthly meeting of the Clement R. Bontemps American Legion Auxiliary Unit 139 was held Monday, March 12, at the legion home.

Margaret Prevou, president, opened the meeting; the color-bearers, Evelyn Burns and Jackie Bufkin, advanced the colors; Ursula Favre, chaplain, read the prayers; and Mrs. Prevou led the members in the Pledge of Allegiance followed by the Preamble.

Mrs. Prevou introduced guests Pat Turnipseed and Edith Beatty. Secretary Janet Aime read the roll call of officers and followed with the reading of the previous meeting.

Bobbie Tomlinson, treasurer, read the financial status of the unit.

Mrs. Prevou announced to the members that the life membership awards were given to two well-deserving members for their many years of service, Genevieve Cole and Esther Oshman. They were given a standing ovation by the members.

The various committees were then called upon to give the reports on their committees' activity during the month.

There will be a 'Bunco' game on Thursday, March 29 at the legion home from 7 until 10 p.m. to help raise money for the emergency fund. Also plans are being made for the Spring Fling to be held in April with music by 'Cornbeef and Cabbage.'

People Caring for Pass Christian

At a fundraiser in the fall, $3,000 was netted. A swing for handicapped adults has been purchased, and the group is working toward having three maps (world, United States and Mississippi), also a map of the solar system installed in War Memorial Park.

Another festival is planned this fall. People Caring for Pass Christian meets on the third Monday of each month at the Pass Christian Public Library meeting room at 7:30 p.m.

The gesture was so well received that some residents expressed a desire to attend some of the meetings at the Garden Center.

Mrs. Burton Kemp read a list of hostesses at each stop for the Pilgrimage. Brochures were also handed out.

Mrs. George E. Baud spoke on the cotton plant, which is native to this region. She uses these plants in her flower garden and said they produce beautiful purple flowers which fall out when the actual boll of cotton appears.

Guest speaker Fred Baylis, interim county agent, was introduced. He was very helpful in answering the many questions asked by the members.

Library arrangements were placed in the Waveland Library by Mrs. Francis Laigast and in the Bay St. Louis Library by Mrs. Randle Hatton.

THIS LAND IS YOUR LAND

By Joe Pilet
Friendship Oak DAR
Conservancy Chairman

DAR exists to preserve our American heritage

It has been suggested that I answer some questions about the National Society Daughters of the American Revolution.

Here are the questions: What is the DAR? Why was it founded and when? Who is eligible to join?

Does the DAR engage in any political activities? Where are the national headquarters?

Those are all good questions. To begin, the NS DAR is a national society. It was founded by women October 11, 1890 for historical, educational and patriotic purposes.

About 100 years after our country was established there was a fine display of patriotism, a desire to honor the men and women whose sacrifices made our country free and independent.

The society was formed "to preserve the memory and traditions of Revolutionary ancestors."

At this point we might list some of the DAR's "Brag Sheet Accomplishments."

The Brag Sheet

There are more than 212,000 members.

The National Headquarters in Washington D.C. is a complex of buildings, the largest group of buildings in the world built, owned and preserved by women.

The buildings contain the magnificent DAR Museum, Genealogical Library, Americana Collection of documents and the largest auditorium in the city of Washington.

To further education, the society supports two schools in the Appalachian area, Tamassee DAR School at Tamassee, S.C. and Kate Duncan Smith at Grant, Ala.

The DAR helps in the education of Indian youth.

There are DAR chapters in all 50 states, also in the District of Columbia, England, France, Mexico, Canada and Australia.

Who may join the DAR? "Any woman is eligible for membership in the NS DAR who is not less than 18 and who descended from a man or woman, who with unfailing loyalty to the cause of American Independence served as a sailor, soldier or civil officer in one of the several colonies or states or, as a recognized patriot, rendered material aid.

Here are a few of the little known facts about the NS DAR: —Susan B. Anthony was a life member.

—The DAR initiated American History Month and also Constitution Week as special observances.

—The Memorial Bell Tower and the Carillon of 56 bells at Valley Forge were DAR projects costing half a million dollars, honoring American heroes, living and dead, of all wars.

Many commemorative events are being planned for the 100th birthday of the DAR. There will be scholarships, essay contests and cash awards. This is a good year to plan a pilgrimage to national headquarters or to the Rosalie Shrine in Natchez.

And now for the important question: "Does the NSDAR engage in any political activities?"

The answer is a firm no. The DAR is non-political. Those who are eligible will find that the society affords personal participation in the preservation of American heritage.

CLUBS, AUXILIARIES

Friendship Oak Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution

Anne S. Anderson, owner/director of the L.W. Anderson Genealogical Library in Gulfport, was guest speaker at the March 14 meeting of Friendship Oak Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution.

Mrs. Anderson, who is state DAR chairman of Lineage Research, spoke on lineage research as it pertains to acceptance by the DAR and mentioned several requirements to be fulfilled by those searching for their patriot ancestors. She elaborated on various methods and sources to help with researching family lines.

The luncheon meeting, hosted by Mrs. E. George Cassis and Mrs. Louis P. Cyr, was opened by Mrs. William J. Gemmel, regent. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Mrs. Cassis, secretary, and the treasurer's report was given by Mrs. Sidney H. Ruskin.

Mrs. James B. Brumfield, vice regent, read the President General's message, and Mrs. Elizabeth H. Graham gave the 'National Defender' report.

Mrs. Gemmel announced that the chapter's 1989-90 yearbook has been awarded a blue ribbon by the National Society, DAR. The chapter also achieved Gold Honor Roll status from State.

Guests included Mrs. Frank E. Jautot Jr., Mrs. Ruby Harris and Mrs. Maurice A. Taquino.

The membership voted to help with the funding of a trip to Washington, D.C., by the 29-member team from Long Beach High School which won first place in Mississippi in the "National Bicentennial Competition on the Constitution and Bill of Rights."

These students are taught by Mrs. Cheri Ladner, who was voted "Outstanding History Teacher of the Year" by Mississippi DAR after nomination by Friendship Oak Chapter.

Mrs. Ladner and the students have worked before and after school to achieve the expertise needed to win the competition in Jackson, and they will compete for the national title in Washington May 4-8. The team is representing the state of Mississippi and the Fifth Congressional District.

The date of the next meeting has been changed from April 14 to Saturday, April 21 because of the Easter weekend.

Outdoor photography workshop slated

The Mississippi Museum of Art/Gulf Coast will present a four-weekend photography workshop with artist and photographer Ken Murphy, well-known locally for his work with Coast Magazine, beginning the weekend of March 31 and April 1.

The workshop, "Photographing the Landscape: Impressions of Mississippi's Vanishing Wilderness," will take the participant to the scenic DeSoto National Forest to learn first-hand from an experienced wildlife photographer how to get the most from outdoor shots.

This workshop affords personalized attention for every level of ability, from novice to expert. Conducted along the shoot-critique-shoot format, the workshop will also offer insightful talks on Mississippi's vanishing wilderness by representatives of the Mississippi Sierra Club and the National Parks Service.

Dates for the workshop are March 31 through April 1, April 7 through April 8, April 21 through April 22 and May 5 through May 6.

Participants will need their own camera equipment and film. The price of the workshop is $100 for MMA/GC members and $130 for nonmembers.

For more information call the MMA/GC at (601) 374-5547.

SHOPPING UP A STORM

By Katy McGuire Caire

With those sweeter than sweet strawberries from our neighboring state of Louisiana coming into our area supermarkets in profusion, and at good prices, I am feasting upon strawberries from morn till night—on my breakfast cereal to start with and a berry or two or more every time I open the fridge and all sorts of delicious strawberry dishes.

And, combined with bananas and those juicier-than-juicy navel oranges and grapefruit and grapes and such, quick desserts are easy—just cut up whatever fruits you wish—then tumble by the spoonfuls over cottage cheese or ice cream or sherbert or poundcake or whatever, and enjoy!

And, I really "pigged out" on a delicious strawberry-banana combination which a friend had made for a luncheon gathering:

STRAWBERRY-BANANA PIE

Crust:

- 2 1/2 cups graham cracker crumbs
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 sticks butter, melted

Filling:

- 1 (8 oz.) pkg. cream cheese
- 3/4 cup confectioners' sugar
- 2 cups chopped pecans
- 2 medium-size bananas, sliced

- 1 quart strawberries, sliced
- 8 oz. whipped cream or whipped topping

For the crust, mix together the crumbs, sugar and butter and press into two deep-dish, 9-inch pie pans. Bake at 325 degrees for 10 minutes. (Or, you may use prepared pie crusts).

For the filling, beat cream cheese and sugar together, then divide between the two crusts evenly, spreading along the bottom. Sprinkle a layer of chopped pecans over, next a layer of sliced bananas and then a layer of sliced strawberries.

Divide the whipped cream or whipped topping, as you choose, and spread evenly over the pies. Top with another layer of pecans—and don't go anywhere near the scales for at least a couple of days!

And, still meandering around the produce departments of our stores, if you choose some apples, make this easy, old-fashioned dessert:

EASY APPLE DUMPLINGS

- 4 baking apples, pared and cored
- 1/2 cup sugar
- 1/2 tsp. cinnamon
- 1/2 cup flour
- 1/4 tsp. baking powder
- 1 egg, slightly beaten
- 4 Tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
- 1 tsp. vanilla

Butter 4 custard cups large enough to hold the individual apples. Mix 1/4 cup sugar with cinnamon, then roll the apples in the cinnamon-sugar, and place in the cups. Sprinkle the remaining sugar mixture over the apples.

Stir together the remaining half cup of sugar with the flour and baking powder. Mix together the egg, butter and vanilla, and combine with the flour mixture. Spoon the batter over the apples, dividing equally.

Bake at 375 degrees until the crust is golden and the apples are tender (30-40 minutes). Serve plain or with ice cream or whipped cream, or pour cream over. (You may also do this ahead of time, and reheat in the microwave on HIGH for 1 1/2 minutes per apple.)

This is an easy-to-do version of the old recipe, of mixing up and rolling out the pastry dough, and wrapping around each apple. (Four servings—from Home Cooking magazine recipes.)

 You've lots of choices, at good prices, at our area stores—whole baking hens, or chicken, for instance, as well as beef and pork. My choice is a chuck roast, which I'll cook down with onions and potatoes and carrots and celery and lots of seasoning, in my trusty old cast iron Dutch oven atop the stove, tasting and stirring from time to time, and then I'll cook up several other dishes from the leftovers.

But, if you've something else to do, you might want to toss some into the oven, and not have to look at it for an hour or a bit longer. So, cook up:

OVEN

STEAK DINNER

- 1 1/2 lbs. round steak, 1/2-inch thick
- 4 medium carrots
- 4 medium potatoes, pared

and cut in half

- 1 can cream of mushroom soup
- 1 envelope dry onion soup mix
- 1 package frozen or can of peas

Heat the oven to 450 degrees.

Cut the meat into pieces of your choice. Tear off four pieces of heavy-duty aluminum foil, each 18 by 15 inches (you needn't be exact about this!) In the center of each piece place a carrot, thinly sliced, a quartered potato, and a fourth of the meat.

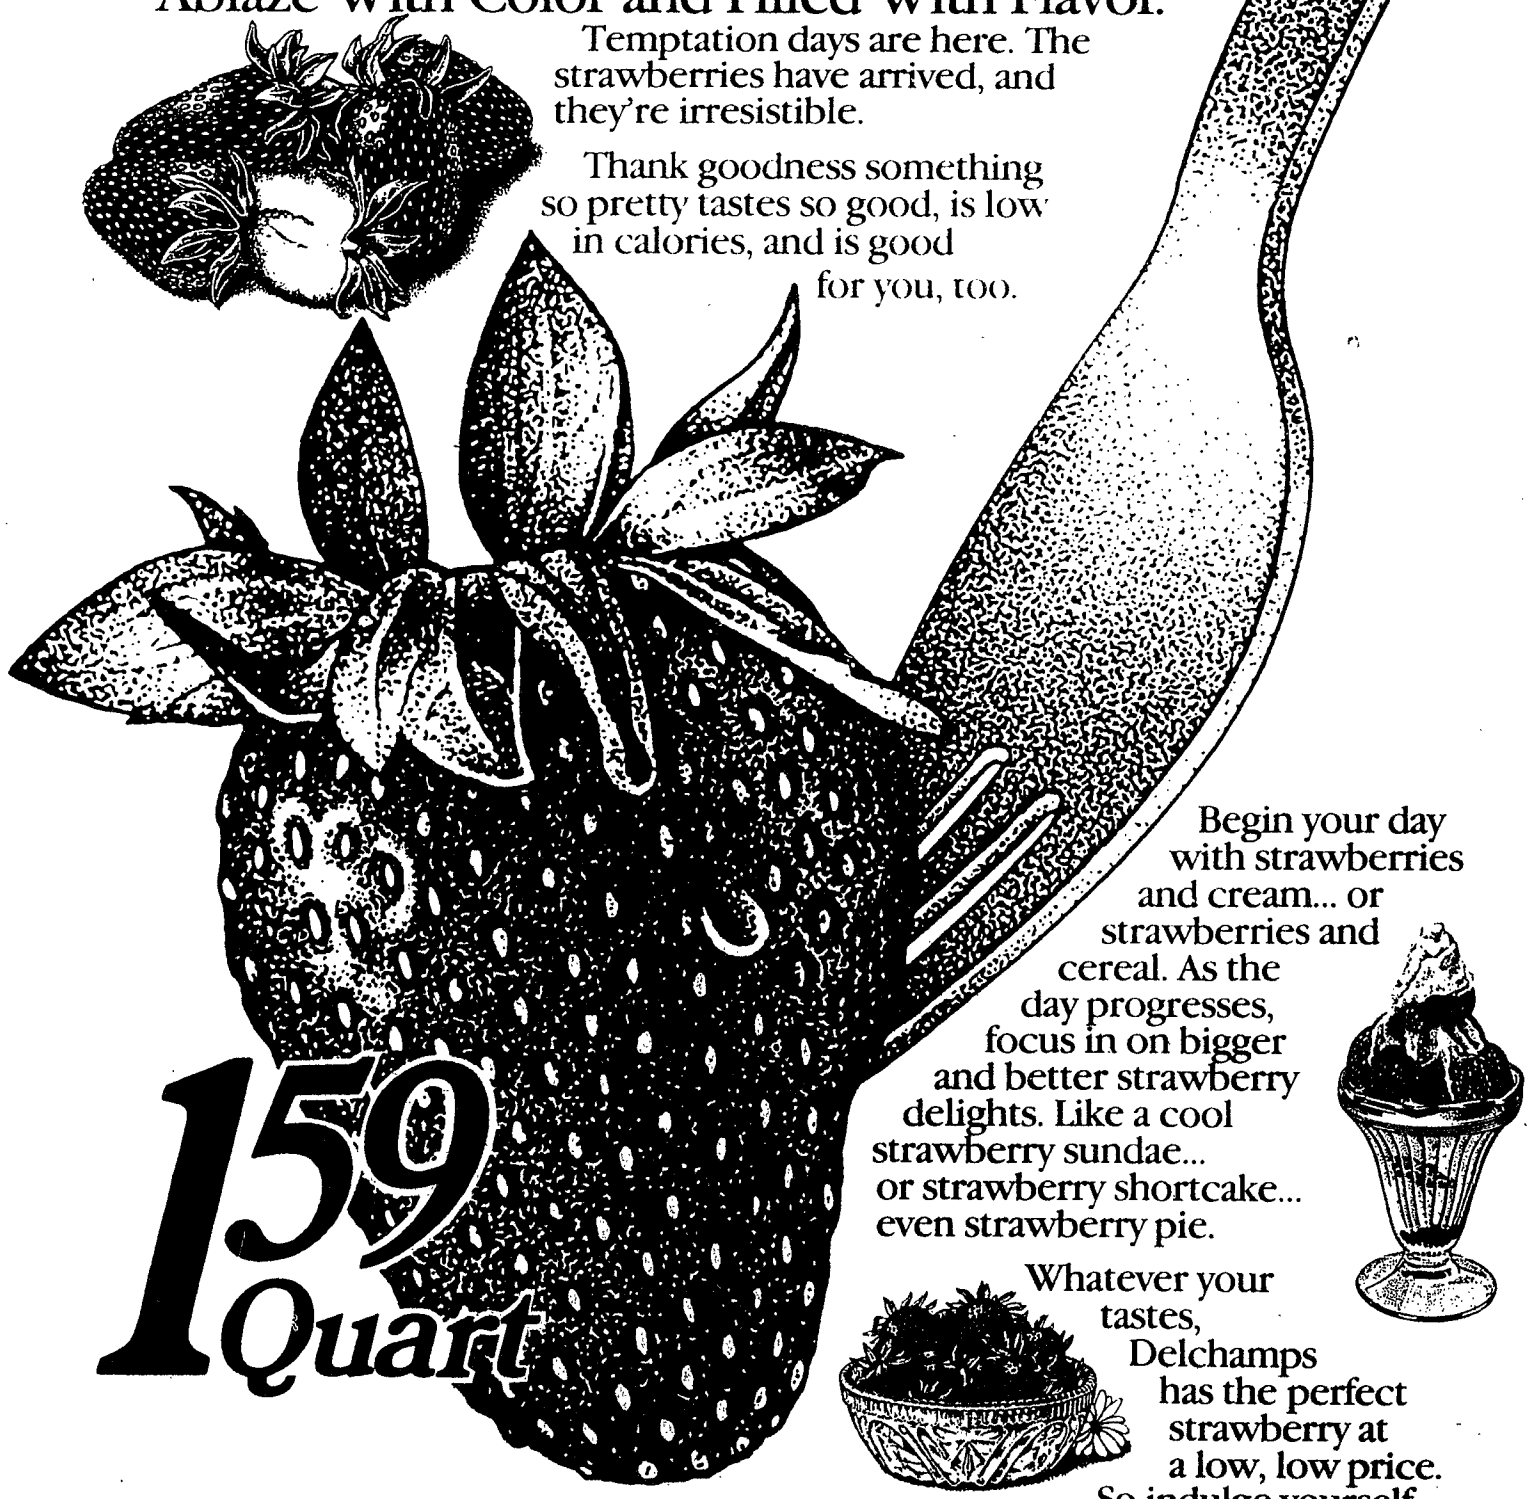

Stir together the soup and onion soup mix, and spoon it over the meat. Top with the peas (I prefer the canned peas; the frozen ones are too much like marbles and marble-hard for my taste). Wrap securely, and place on ungreased baking sheet. Bake for 50 to 60 minutes, or until meat is tender. (Four servings).
